

2 Nations Join To-day to Honor 332d Regiment

Gallant Men From Ohio and Pennsylvania Who Fought on the Piave To Be Hailed by the Sons of Italy

New York, on behalf of their home states, and Italy, through military and diplomatic representatives acting in the name of her gallant First Army, will join to-day in paying honor to the Ohio and Pennsylvania soldiers of the 332d Infantry who represented America on the Piave during the last months of the war.

These are the twenty-odd hundred men who by marching legions, appeared as 200,000 to the hordes of Teutonic spies in Italy, and the city's Italian colony, out en masse, will take the lead in demonstrating appreciation for the result—the improved morale of their brethren in the hour of need after Caporetto.

The parade is due to start at 10 A. M.

at Washington Arch and will end at 102nd Street. There the marching column will be diverted into the North Meadow of Central Park, where before a gathering of 10,000 official delegates of the Sons of Italy, General Emilio Guglielmotti, attaché of the Italian embassy, will present commemorative medals both to the regiment and to its Commander, Colonel Wallace.

The parade will, in fact, be in two parts. The first part will be that of a column of Italian delegates to the park ceremonies, marshalled by Stefano Miele, Supreme Venerable of the Sons of Italy. This will start from the Victory Arch at Twenty-third Street shortly after 8 o'clock.

General Guglielmotti and officers of the Belgian, French, British and American armies, will march with Mayor Hylan and representatives of the State Department and of the governors of New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, will review the parade at Eighty-second Street. The municipal grand stand from Ninety-second to 102d streets has been reserved for members of the various Italian societies.

After the armistice the 332d was stationed in Dalmatia, territory now in dispute between Italy and Jugoslavia, and a committee of Jugo-Slavs, Serbs and Croats visited Camp Merritt yesterday and presented to Colonel Wallace an address, expressing appreciation of the tact and justice shown by the officers and men of the regiment.

The committee, Lazarovich Hrebek, Hanovich, S. Kucich and R. P. Hucak, said they were acting on behalf of natives of Fiume, Istria and Trieste, now resident in this country.

Fleet Attracts Easter Visitors By Thousands

Gobs Attend Church in the Morning and Entertain a Throng of Guests During Remainder of the Day

It was a busy Easter Sunday for the Victory fleet anchored in the Hudson River. Thousands of sailors came ashore to take part in the many religious and social celebrations arranged for them, while thousands of visitors clambered up the gangways to inspect Uncle Sam's mighty sea fighters. Band concerts were given on all the larger ships.

Easter services were held aboard most of the ships, the general church party forming on the Pennsylvania. Separate services were held for Catholics and Protestants.

On the Pennsylvania the Catholic service was conducted by the Rev. M. C. Gleason, fleet chaplain. About 300 men attended. Low mass was celebrated and Chaplain Gleason gave a short talk on the meaning of Easter. Special features were provided for the Protestant services by Chaplain Boynton Merrill. Music was furnished by the ship's band and vocal selections were given by members of the choir of the Central Presbyterian Church. About 300 men listened in rapt silence to the sermon and joined heartily in singing Easter hymns.

Arrangements were made for all sailors who "rated" liberty to leave early enough to attend services in city churches.

Thirty thousand boxes of Easter candy were distributed by the War Camp Community Service. Every "gob" got a liberal allotment.

Record-breaking crowds swarmed aboard the ships all day. The sailor boys did their best to entertain. Visitors were of two kinds, those calling on husband, brother or sweetheart and those who wanted to utilize an ideal day for inspecting the fleet. Excursion steamers did a thriving business from early morning until late in the evening. Miss Daisy Delong, of Little Rock, Ark., who was appointed by the Governor of that state to preside over the battleship Arkansas a $16,000 silver service, will arrive in New York today, and will meet the officers from the Arkansas at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. Paul Meyrowitz, 140 West Fifty-seventh Street. The silver service will be presented to-morrow.

will go aboard the Police Department steamer Falcon. The "gold star" mothers will be guests of honor on the municipal vessel Correction. There will be enough other guests to tax the capacity of three municipal ferries, the Capt. Ridge, Governor and Mayor Gaynor.

This fleet, accompanied by the converted gunboat Victory, bearing a number of wounded soldiers, will meet the 69th at the Battery and will then sail up the Hudson to their quarters at the 69th Street Hotel.

made to handle a throng of relatives and friends, who are expected at the Port of Debarkation in the hope of seeing their soldiers a moment before they entrain for Camp Mills.

Lieutenant Colonel Charles Healy, commander of the 69th Veteran Corps, a contingent of which also will be aboard the Grand Republic, said at the armory last night that plans had been perfected to raise an endowment fund to help finance those of the returning troops who may need such aid and to erect two monuments to the historic regiment, commemorating its career, both in the Civil War and in this.

This fund will be started Thursday, May 15, with appropriate ceremonies at the Metropolitan Opera House. It was announced last night.

"This time," said Colonel Healy, "the boys of the 69th are going to be taken care of after they return to civil life. It will not be the same as after the Civil War when many of the men who offered their lives for the Union returned to find themselves without means of livelihood."

John J. Ryan, former city magistrate, explained that the first money to be collected will be used to erect monuments in Calvary and Greenwood cemeteries.

Mr. Ryan announced the following committee in charge of the Endowment and Monument Fund:

John C. McCall, treasurer, 346 Broadway; Lieutenant Jaffray Peterson, secretary, 401 Eighth Avenue; Judge Joseph Mulqueen of Special Sessions; Judge Michael F. Blake, of the Municipal Court, and Colonel Louis D. Conley, former commander of the old 69th.

"Roosevelt Road" Projected

From Chicago to St. Louis

CHICAGO, April 20.—A "Roosevelt Road" to St. Louis, with its Chicago terminus at a monument and portrait statue of the former President, on the Lake front, was decided upon yesterday by the Roosevelt Memorial Association of Chicago. The plan contemplated a minimum expenditure of $250,000.

10,000 Members of 77th Division at Sea on Way Home

Unofficial advices received yesterday by leaders of the Home Auxiliary Association of the 77th Division said that more troops of New York City's National Army unit had embarked for home. There are now more than 10,000 men of the division at sea. The remainder will be embarked, under the instructions of Secretary of War Baker, to-day and to-morrow, and in ten days the entire 30,000 men will be in New York again.

General Robert Alexander, commanding the division, with his headquarters outfit, will be on one of the fastest vessels, and is expected to arrive almost simultaneously with the first contingents on board the Mount Vernon and Aquitania next Saturday.

The mystic figure 7, according to officers and the 77th advance party, has had a singular prominence in the career of the command, and it is their ardent hope that when General Peyton C. March, chief of the general staff, comes in a few days to arrange for prompt debarkation and the divisional review, he will find it feasible to order the great parade for Wednesday, May 7.

"Major General Robert Alexander, the commander, formerly was an officer of the old 7th Infantry," one of the advance party said yesterday. "He took command of the 77th on August 27, and from that time to the armistice the division captured 707 Germans. Most important of all, it gained from the enemy in seven months 715 kilometres of territory, which is credited to be the largest area of ground gained by any American division."

Brigadier Michael J. Lenahan, commanding the 153d Infantry Brigade, was the first of the division's general officers to embark. He is aboard the Mount Vernon.

The Jewish Welcome Committee announced last night that all East Side theatres are arranging entertainments, timing them, however, so that they will not interfere with the plans of the Mayor's Committee.

Mayor and Murphy and Jeff Davis Go to Beach

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 20.—Mayor Hylan, of New York, was in the Easter parade here with his wife and daughter. So were Charles F. Murphy and Representative Tom Smith. Governor Walter E. Edge, E. N. Hurley and Countess Del Garcia and Lady Jones. Jeff Davis, king of the hooches, had a beach front suite at the Alamac Hotel.

But Easter lilies were conspicuous by their absence. There was an explanation for that. Transportation difficulties, which made the importation of the bulbs almost impossible during the last year, were responsible.

However, women's hats bloomed and the ostrich tail hat reappeared. The cocktail hat is known by the single cherry which adorns it; no Martini cocktail hats were observed.
